Consider the file "ds_salaries.csv", which contains data about data science salaries.

The Data Science Salaries Dataset provides insights into the compensation trends within the field of data science across various industries, locations, experience levels, and job roles. This dataset typically includes information.

Use Python Jupyter Notebook or Google Colab to provide at least three different plots that give a visual insight into the data set.